Spectators Line Streets For Parade

The "standing room only" sign went up last night in both Stroudsburg boroughs—but everyone was happy about it.

Standing room, after all, is exactly what the thousands of spectators who lined Main St. in Stroudsburg and the streets of East Stroudsburg from Washington on up to Day, had expected and wanted. Standing room is, of course, the best room there is when it comes to watching a parade.

Last night's pre-Christmas "balloon parade" was exactly what most of the folks—and the retail trades division of the Chamber of Commerce—had ordered. It more than measured up to local expectations.

The influx of thousands of persons into the boroughs had created a traffic and parking situation which, in other hands, might have been formidable. In the hands of capable policemen and volunteer firemen from both boroughs, however, it proved a snap. There were no traffic snarls, no tie-ups and almost no heated tempers as a result of last night's celebration.

The night's activity began quietly enough. Choral groups, consisting of students from both boroughs, sang special arrangements of Christmas carols.

The large crowd—attracted by the advance publicity for the parade and pictures which advertised the giant balloon figures which were to be its feature attraction—began lining up around six p.m. From then on, the street was filled with expectancy, false alarms and chants of "We want a parade."

At 6:37, the advance guard units of the parade appeared near the library. A wave of cheers swept down the thin sea of faces on each side of the street.

On the corner of Seventh and Main Sts. a balloon salesman was having difficulty explaining to a youthful customer that those "little things" were not the balloons he'd come all the way downtown to see. When the first cheer went up, the boy darted toward the crowd along the edge of the sidewalk; wriggled through the maze of legs to the curb. There, with his hand clasped firmly around his mother's wrist, he got his first look at "the parade."

"Aww," he muttered. "It's nothing but motorcycles!"

The motorcycles, of course, were the police escort—two of them, one on either side of the street—who, along with other borough policemen standing at intersections directing the traffic, had been given the assignment of "clearing the way" for the big parade which followed.

Two cars, operated by State Police, made up the complement of police escort. One of the motorcycle cops got a good hand as he slowed down in front of a group of East Stroudsburg Junior High students.

The parade officially opened with the appearance of the American Legion's color guard, followed by four, fast-stepping, drum (Continued on page seven)

Men Well Named For Police Duty

San Angelo, Tex. (AP)—Ketcham Early is the newest police combination here.

Police Chief Ava Smith said yesterday he will pair Anthony Wayne Ketcham, 6 feet 4, 220 pounds, and J. H. Early, 6 feet 2, 215 pounds, as working partners.

The two officers were hired last week and reported for duty yesterday morning.

Demo Chief Defends $68,000 Profit On $1,000 Investment

Washington, (AP)—Frank E. McKinney, Democratic party chieftain, yesterday angrily defended a stock venture by which he and Frank McHale picked up $68,000 each on 10-month investments of only $1,000.

At the same time he told newsmen President Truman should do something "dramatic and drastic" about the recently disclosed scandals in Federal tax collections.

"No political influence or improperity were involved," McKinney said in telling a hastily called news conference about the quick-profit 1946-47 transaction.

"Is it criminal, is it unlawful for a Democratic chairman to hold business interests?" asked McKinney, an Indianapolis banker who became the party's non-salaried national committee chairman on October 31.

Truman Meets With Military, Diplomatic Advisers For Review Of World Situation

Washington, (AP)—President Truman reviewed the "world situation" with top military and diplomatic advisers yesterday in an atmosphere of deepening mystery over the precise reasons for his sudden return from a Florida vacation.

The White House said topics discussed at the 70-minute conference included the long-drawn Korean truce talks, but emphasized that other subjects were also considered.

Presidential Secretary Joseph Short told newsmen:

"This meeting this morning discussed the world situation. No policy decisions were made."

Asked whether the President had been briefed on latest developments in the Korean armistice negotiations—particularly on the prospect of meeting the Dec. 27 deadline for settlement of many of the issues involved—Short replied:

"Korea was among the subjects discussed, but the conference was not confined to that subject."

Bill Outlawing Communist Party In Pennsylvania Wins Final Approval In Assembly

Harrisburg, (AP)—Legislation outlawing the Communist party in Pennsylvania received final approval of the General Assembly last night. The House, which originally passed the bill making membership in the Communist party a felony, approved by a unanimous vote Senate amendments and sent it to Gov. John S. Fine for signature.

The anti-Communist bill would impose a maximum jail sentence of 20 years or a maximum fine of $10,000 or anyone "who participates in the revolutionary activities of the Communist party."

The legislation was introduced in the General Assembly under bipartisan sponsorship, with the backing of State Supreme Court Justice-elect Michael A. Musmanno, Pittsburgh Democrat.

The Senate revised the House-passed bill to meet objections raised by the State Justice department. The department claimed the measure in its original state was "unconstitutional." It succeeded in having a section removed which it said may have permitted innocent persons to be unjustly labeled as subversives.

The bill sent to the Governor would:

One—Make it unlawful for the Communist party to receive any of the privileges of an incorporated body in the state.

Two—Prohibit membership in the party in Pennsylvania.

Three—Prohibit anyone from taking part in the "revolutionary activities of the Communist party" or any other party committed to the overthrow of the United States government.

Ford To Raise Tractor Prices By 6.3 Per Cent

Detroit (AP)—The Ford Motor Co. yesterday filed new ceiling prices with the Office of Price Stabilization for trucks, tractors and related products.

Executive Vice-President Ernest R. Breech said the company plans to increase wholesale prices on tractors by 6.3 per cent. Other wholesale price increases are 3 per cent on service parts and accessories.

Breech said the company would make further studies of its 180 truck models and optional truck equipment before setting new prices on them under the new ceilings.

The company filed the new ceilings under an amended act of Congress authorizing manufacturers to recover increases in certain labor and material costs.

Americans Sight Only 10 Red Jets

Seoul, Korea, Tuesday (AP)—American Sabre jet fighters patrolling northwest Korea's "Mig Alley" sighted only 10 Communist jet fighters Monday but for the second straight day made no contact with the enemy.

Stormy weather limited Allied air activity to 427 strikes against Communist rail and supply points. On the ground, everything was quiet during the daylight hours, save for routine scouting patrols and some sporadic artillery fire. Light patrol contact was reported on the western end of the 145-mile battle line.

Luis Padilla Nervo of Mexico, president of the U. N. General Assembly, announced the end of the deliberations of the powers, sitting with him as a sub-committee of the assembly's political committee.

A responsible diplomat who commented on the work of the Big Four said the East and West still were as far apart as ever on Russian demands for immediate prohibition of the atomic bomb. The West refused to accept a ban on the bomb until adequate controls have been established to enforce it.

Exempts Guardsmen

Harrisburg, (AP)—Gov. John S. Fine yesterday moved to increase strength of the Pennsylvania National Guard by exempting guardsmen between the ages of 17 and 18½ from the draft.

King Lashes Caudle For Indiscretions

Washington (AP)—Chairman Cecil King (D-Calif.) of the committee investigating tax scandals accused former Assistant Attorney General T. Lamar Caudle last night of indiscretion "amounting to a breach of the public trust."

The chairman lectured Caudle as the ousted Justice department official was excused from the witness stand after another chapter in his serial testimony before the House ways and means subcommittee.

It was a strained, ashen-faced Caudle who heard King's denunciation.

King declared that "you have utterly failed" as a public official and that Caudle had allowed self-serving men "to take advantage of you."

"The damage you have done to your government will take a long time to repair," King declared.

Concluding over two weeks of on-and-off appearances before the committee investigating his handling of tax fraud cases, Caudle rose to his feet with the declaration "I have not done a dishonest thing."

But with a wry smile, Caudle said "I may have been guilty of some indiscretions" that he would not do again.

In his final appearance as a witness Caudle had said that although he heard four months ago that his name was being used in connection with an alleged tax shakedown, "I didn't do anything about it."

"Maybe I should have done something about it," the former assistant attorney general told a House investigating committee, "but I didn't."

Abraham Teitelbaum, a prosperous Chicago lawyer and real estate operator, told the tax investigators last week that Frank Nathan and Bert K. Naster approached him in Miami Beach, Fla., last winter and demanded $500,000 to keep him out of serious tax trouble.

Tax evasion charges are pending against Teitelbaum.

He said Nathan and Naster told him there was a group of Washington officials, including Caudle, who were looking for "soft touches" like him, but that they could make it easy for him.

Teitelbaum unburdened himself to L. T. Cohen, at Atlanta attorney, and Cohen testified yesterday that he relayed the story to Caudle August 20.

"What did you do about it?" Adrian Devind, counsel for a House ways and means subcommittee, asked when Caudle followed Cohen to the witness chair.

"I didn't do anything about it," Caudle said lamely. "It was hard for me to believe that Mr. Nathan would be a part of it."

Until he was ousted by President Truman last month, Caudle was in charge of tax fraud prosecutions for the Justice department.

Nathan is a promoter and big-time horse race bettor whom Caudle has acknowledged as a close friend.

Dwind asked if Caudle had not attempted to determine whether Teitelbaum was in fact the victim of an extortion plot. The witness said he had not.

Caudle added that he did not tell his superior, Attorney General J. Howard McGrath, about the shakedown rumors "because it just didn't occur to me."

"I had no purpose in not doing it," he went on. "I simply didn't do it because I was sick at heart. Sure didn't."

Sinatra's Lose

$16,800 In Gems

London, (AP)—A selective thief picked $16,800 worth of gems from a box of jewelry in the locked hotel room of singer Frank Sinatra and his wife, actress Ava Gardner, on Sunday night, police disclosed yesterday.

The stolen articles included a diamond and emerald necklace which Ava said was her "prettiest and favorite piece of jewelry"—it was Frankie's Christmas gift to her last year—a dazzling pair of cameo cufflinks and a platinum and sapphire ring belonging to the singer.

Iran To Serve Oil Ultimatum

Tehran, Iran (AP)—Deputy Premier Hossain Fatehi said yesterday Iran will serve a 10-day ultimatum on her old western customers to buy her oil.

The ultimatum carries the implicit threat to sell oil to the Soviet bloc if Britain and other former western customers do not come to terms within 10 days—a threat which may not have teeth, however, because observers doubt that the Soviet bloc has the necessary tankers to carry away any purchases.

Bitter Fight Looms

Harrisburg (AP)—A bitter fight shaped up yesterday over final passage of a long-disputed bill requiring loyalty oaths by public employees in Pennsylvania. Forces favoring and opposing the bill planned mass meetings in Harrisburg today on the measure.

Neutral Kaesong Region Bombed; Reds Blame U. N.

Munsan, Korea, Tuesday (AP)—The Communists today yielded to insistent Allied demands for immediate talks on the exchange of prisoners of war.

They agreed to open up for discussion the next-to-last issue on the armistice agenda before settlement of the current problem, policing the truce.

The Allied delegation had sought the start of prisoner exchange talks, a spokesman said, solely through a desire to speed up the talks against the December 27 deadline.

A second subcommittee composed of one delegate from each truce team will carry on the prisoner talks. It was to meet for the first time this afternoon.

Pilfering Prof Sentenced To Prison Term

Santa Barbara, Calif. (AP)—The pilfering professor, Dr. Gwynne Nettler, 38, was sentenced to 90 days in the county jail yesterday, fined $600, and placed on probation for 10 years.

The debonair Ph.D., called "the best dressed professor on the Santa Barbara College campus" when he taught sociology there, pleaded guilty to burglary charges.

He admitted that he led a double-life—respectable faculty member by day, second story man by night—in which he looted mansions of expensive furnishings and bric-a-brac.

Terms of his probation stipulate that he cannot teach during the 10 years and must avoid seeing Mrs. Francine Schaefer, the comedy divorcee for whose love, the professor said, he fell into his evil ways.

It was she who tipped authorities to Nettler's nocturnal activities and brought about his arrest last Nov. 6.

Overall Army Control Urged

Strasbourg, France, Tuesday, (AP)—The European Consultative Assembly early today endorsed formation of a supranational authority to control the projected European Army.

The vote on a roll call ballot was 60 to 10 in favor of the proposal. There were 12 abstentions, mostly from British Conservative members of the assembly.

The resolution adopted urged the council of Europe's upper house, the Committee of Foreign Ministers, to "encourage rapid conclusion of an agreement" among member states to set up a limited political authority over defense and Foreign policy within the framework of the North Atlantic treaty.

The Consultative Assembly and the Committee of Foreign ministers compose an International Parliament without actual legislative powers.

The resolution the assembly adopted would mean a partial surrender of sovereignty by participants in the European Army.

Latest reports listed 16 known dead, scores missing, and more than 200 injured. Tens of thousands were reported homeless.

Officials estimated material damage at more than $20,000,000. South of the typhoon's trail, angry Hibok Hibok continued to spout flames and smoke. Eruptions on the volcano's sixth day of action appeared to be minor, however.

Publisher Appointed U. S. Senator

Lincoln, Neb., (AP) — Fred Seaton, 42-year-old newspaper publisher who calls himself a "liberal conservative," yesterday succeeded to the Senate seat left vacant by the recent death of Kenneth S. Wherry, Republican floor leader.

Republican Gov. Val Peterson, himself a candidate for the Senate, named the Hastings, Neb., newspaperman to serve in the United States Senate until a successor is chosen in the 1952 November election. Seaton said he accepted the office only for the interim term and will not be a candidate in next year's election for the remainder of the Wherry term ending in 1955.

Governor Peterson indicated he has given some thought to the possibility of running for the two-year term after Seaton's appointment expires. Peterson has filed as a candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination against Sen. Hugh Butler of Omaha who is seeking reelection.

Seaton will take his seat when Congress convenes January 8. Wherry died November 29.

Seaton classified himself as a "liberal conservative or middle-of-the-roader," politically. His predecessor, Wherry, was considered an ardent spokesman for the right-wing Republicans.

Iran Changes Its Attitude

The Hague, The Netherlands, (AP) — The Iranian government told the International Court of Justice yesterday that Hossein Navab would be its agent in the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. case. Navab is the Iranian minister at the Hague.

This represents a change in Iran's attitude. In the past Iran has refused to take part in any of the proceedings brought against Iran by Britain in the International court, an agency of the United Nations. Iran has contended that her actions in nationalizing the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. are outside the court's jurisdiction. Iran's action in appointing Navab does not mean that she has altered this viewpoint, but she is at least willing to argue the point of competence before the tribunal.

Tax Measure Is Referred To Conferees

Harrisburg, (AP) — The House yesterday threw up a temporary roadblock in front of a $113 million tax program—but only to take some technical wrinkles out of the legislation.

The package of bills was referred to a conference committee of three members from each the House and Senate to rectify a host of printing errors and conflicting clauses.

Rep. Charles C. Smith, Republican floor leader, offered the assurance upon questioning by Democrats, that there would be no "general change in the tax policy."

"This (creation of the conference committee) does not alter our thinking one way or another," he said. "These are purely technical amendments."

The tax package, passed by the Senate last week to end a long revenue-raising stalemate, features a speedup in collection of the corporate net income tax, levying of a one per cent tax on real estate, increasing inheritance taxes and removing exemptions from taxes paid by insurance firms, bus firms and for-hire truckers.

Researchers Find Lightning Facts

Pittsfield, Mass., (AP) — The General Electric Laboratories here have turned up some interesting facts in their studies with artificial lightning.

In the first place, lightning bolts don't come from the blue, and those lightning flashes don't hit the earth. Actually they jump skyward at a rate of about 18,000 miles per second. It could go three-quarters of the way around the world while you said "Look out!"

It works like this: As a lightning charge is being built up in the clouds, an opposite charge is building up on earth. The stroke travels slowly from the cloud and is invisible to the naked eye. Then when it makes contact with the ground, it spurts toward the sky in a quick flash.

$1,300 Loss Results When Truck Burns

Effort—Fire caused $1,300 damages to a truck on Route 115 near here at 9 a. m. yesterday.

Brodheads State police said the truck was crossing Effort Mountain when a passing motorist halted driver Robert P. Berger, 24, of Nazareth RD 3, and pointed to flames at the rear of the truck.

Police said Berger stopped his five-ton vehicle and tried to put out the fire with a hand extinguisher. He was unsuccessful.

The West End fire co. was called and quelled the blaze. Firemen said the flames probably came from either spontaneous combustion or from a combination of gasoline spillage and engine heat. Owner of the truck was listed as William E. Rogers, Easton.

Hunters Pay Fines For Violations

An East Stroudsburg hunter was fined $200 and $12 costs at a hearing before Justice of the Peace Marshall Neyhart, for being in possession and attempting to transport a doe in closed season.

The man, Ralph L. Slack, 20, 173 Meyer St., East Stroudsburg, was fined $100 for transporting the doe and $100 for assisting in the killing of the doe out of season.

According to John Doebeling, district game protector, this was Slack's second offense in recent years.

Four non-resident hunters, hunting with resident licenses, were also fined $50 each for failing to possess non-resident licenses. They were Frank S. Lakits, 50 Dunmore Ave., Trenton, N. J.; Alex L. Primas, 3 Rod road, Alden, N. Y.; Charles Jacob Fisher, 669 N. Terrace Ave., Mount Vernon, N. Y. and Richard E. Thompson, 8 Homestead, Avenal, N. J.

Frank E. Maines, Kingsbury, N. Y., was fined $100 for transporting a game animal out of the state which he had not personally killed. Maines was carrying the deer out of the state for a friend who wanted to stay in Pennsylvania for the doe season this weekend.

An alarming percentage of deer meat transported through spot road checking points over the weekend was spoiled, according to Doebeling. Doebeling estimated "around 50 per cent" of the meat checked at the checking stations showed signs of spoiling.

Hear That Rumble?

The low rumble you hear is inflation cranking up for another eruption.

The Government's price-control office has just put out a general order giving most manufacturers and processors the right to apply for price increases under the so-called Capehart amendment.

That's the provision in the price law which requires the Office of Price Stabilization to permit manufacturers and processors to raise prices to meet higher costs developing between the outbreak of the Korean war and last July 26.

There are a lot of gimmicks and red tape in the new general order. And even some hope of a few price cuts.

But the over-all result will be a general rise. That will serve to stimulate labor union demands for more pay. And higher wages always lead to higher prices. One trying to outrun the other.

It will add to the cost of military preparedness. And for those who can't readily wheedle higher wages or salaries, it will mean, in effect, pay cuts.

Inflation, nobody really wins.

We're just now, getting some of the delayed results of past inflation.

Furthermore, Nov. 1, the Federal Government increased its tax deduction from paychecks to 20 per cent. And a good part of the reason for that unwelcome bite was the higher cost of the defense program—due to inflation.

Yet we're going in for more of the same. Right now, the United Steelworkers, CIO, are negotiating with U.S. Steel on a new wage contract.

Any contract which comes out of these talks would set basic working conditions for the steel industry—and perhaps for all industry. And if that contract forces up the price of steel again, as it has in the past, watch out!

Put all these factors together: increasing prices, stimulating renewed labor union demands; higher wages, forcing prices up again; higher taxes adding to the cost of living, and you get a bleak picture of our economic future.

We'll all hope that somehow, someday, common sense will enable us to get on some sane level of prices and wages that will permit us to get stabilized. Until then we'll have to learn, over and over again, that—

In inflation, nobody really wins.

M-Day on Highways

They calling it "M-Day" and it will occur in the next few weeks, probably on Dec. 21.

By "M-Day" the National Safety Council means the day on which the auto death toll in the United States will reach 1,000,000 since the first traffic fatality 51 years ago.

That is more American lives than were lost in any of the nation's wars; in fact, all of them put together did not take that many lives.

The death rate in traffic averages 122 a day. If that continues, "M-Day" will be Dec. 21—at the beginning of the Christmas season.

Fall driving—with more hours of darkness, uncertain weather and highways progressively more crowded—is hazardous.

Caution should be the watchword. The 1,000,000th life lost may be yours.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

The University of Michigan prides itself on the exchange students it attracts from every corner of the world. One day, delegates from the far East arrived unexpectedly at the Ann Arbor station clad in white suits with turbans wound around their heads. The station master called up President Ruthven and asked, "What'll I do with them? They don't seem to understand the questions I ask them. Only one speaks any English." "Send the one who speaks English to my office and hold the others till you hear from me," instructed Dr. Ruthven. In due course the emissary who "spoke English" arrived before Dr. Ruthven, bowed low, and gravely began, "Sir or madam, whichever the case may be . . .

A timely reminder from the Harvard Lampoon: "Even if you have money to burn, you can't take it with you." And the Ohio State Sundial points out, "A woman should never look back—especially if she's been ignoring her diet."

Hollywood

By Gene Handsaker

Hollywood — Marilyn Monroe shot me a high-voltage jolt of sex appeal from the eyes and said:

"I think a woman always wants to be admired by the male sex—and it doesn't matter so much for what."

I'd asked if she wouldn't rather be admired for her acting than for her figure. For Marilyn has—and I don't expect this to arouse a storm of controversy among male moviegoers—the sexiest chassis on the screen today.

She's 23, a blue-eyed blonde with a vibrant, come-hither gleam. She's 5 feet 5½ inches, 118 pounds, has a 23-inch waist, 34-inch hips, and 37-inch bust. "Sometimes it's 36½," she amended, "depending on how I'm eating."

The crew of a warship in Korean waters wrote to ask whether she accented these curves artificially. "Half of us say yes, half of us no," the Navy man explained. Marilyn's response—a photo of herself in a bikini bathing suit—settled all doubt.

Maybe you saw her as George Sanders' girl friend in "All About Eve." Or as Louis Calhern's in "The Asphalt Jungle." Right now she has her biggest part yet—sweetheart of Barbara Stanwyck's brother in "Clash By Night."

I watched her pose for some cheesecake art the other day in one of her costumes for the picture—a highleg nightie. Then we walked into the crowded studio restaurant for lunch. Marilyn had changed to a skirt and tight sweater. It was interesting to see scores of male heads rotate as if on ball-bearing swivels to follow her.

Marilyn has an arresting hip-swish when she walks. She denies it is "studied," as one magazine claimed. Says it's completely natural.

Does she mind posing in bathing suits, negligees, and similarly scanty costumes? "No, they're actually more comfortable." But cheesecake, she thinks, should be

These Days — By George E. Sokolsky

How To Write A Book

According to John Gunther, writing in "Look" magazine, General Eisenhower wrote "Crusade in Europe" in seven weeks. John Gunther is impressed by the performance. Yet, what puzzles me about this is that John Gunther says:

"... Two friends helped him, however, in editorial revision—Joseph Barnes, then the foreign editor of the New York Herald Tribune, and Ken McCormick, representing Doubleday and Company, Ike's publishers."

Now, a writer knows that nine-tenths of any craftsman's job is editorial revision. That means reducing the copy to English; cutting out the useless pages, phrases, episodes and words; bringing the language through the crucible of thought. According to John Gunther, this task General Eisenhower entrusted to Joe Barnes and Ken McCormick.

Wendell Willkie entrusted his "One World" to the editorial talents of Joe Barnes. After that, Republicans lost interest in Willkie.

I first met Joe Barnes in connection with the Institute of Pacific Relations where he worked with Frederick Vanderbilt Field, E. C. Carter, and Owen Lattimore. At that time, Barnes and Field were very close friends. For many years, however, I have only hearsay knowledge of Barnes' career.

General Alexander Barnine, who had been a Russian Charge D'Affaires at Athens and who has served in Soviet intelligence work but is now an American citizen, testifying under oath before the McCarran committee, described a conversation which he had, while still in the Soviet service, with General Berzin, a Soviet intelligence officer. The following colloquy is given in the committee records:

"Senator Eastland. Now General Berzin was the head of Soviet military intelligence?"

"Mr. Barnine. That is right."

"Senator Eastland. He spoke of two agents of Soviet Military Intelligence?"

"Mr. Barnine. He spoke of them as 'our men'."

"Senator Ferguson. Who was building it (a Communist organization) up at Harvard?"

"Dr. Wittfogel. I think Barnes was a leading man . . .

"Mr. Morris . . . Did you have a controversy or conversion with Joseph Barnes during the Hitler-Stalin pact?"

"Dr. Wittfogel . . . Just by accident, Owen Lattimore was in town. We had a conversation, the three of us. It was one of those attempts, I thought, there, you might pull Barnes out of what he has been in. He has been in it, but maybe he has seen the light. I pulled in vain."

"I tried to disentangle him, to uproot him as far as I could. I told him many things about my own experience . . .

(Wittfogel describes his knowledge as a German Communist. You can read it all in the published volumes of the McCarran committee.)

"... What interested me was that his reaction was to take up the defense of Mr. Stalin's policy and the Comintern without going into the facts. If he had an open mind, he should have said, 'let's really weigh the facts.'"

"I saw here a man who was fanatical. He stuck by his allegiance to the Comintern which he defected in an abstruse manner. He didn't care about the facts . . . That was the end of my contact with Barnes."

Whittaker Chambers testified before the same committee in this words:

"... Peters (the principal Russian espionage agent in this country) told me that (Frederick Vanderbilt) Field was a member of an underground unit of the American Communist party, which was meeting, if I remember correctly, in a house belonging to Mr. Field's mother somewhere in Central Park West, New York. In that unit were Frederick Vanderbilt Field and Joseph Barnes. Peters was considerably disturbed about the unit because some difficulty had arisen between the two men about their wives . . . (Mrs. Field had divorced him and married Barnes.)"

Robert Morris, committee counsel, summed up the situation as follows:

"It may be that we are laboring this too much on Mr. Barnes. Mr. Chairman. Mr. Chambers is how the fourth witness who has identified Mr. Barnes as a member of some Communist unit and Communist organization, and yet I think it is necessary, Mr. Chairman, because Mr. Barnes continues to deny it."

I wish to make the point that I personally know nothing about Mr. Barnes' connections with the Communist party. This testimony is, however, important and is here given in connection with John Gunther's statement that Barnes was one of the editors of General Eisenhower's book, "Crusade in Europe." There is no conflicting testimony to show that Barnes is a Republican, if that matters.

Washington Report

By Fulton Lewis Jr.

Washington—The quickest way to stir up a rash of organized hysteria in the country today is to mention that certain school textbooks ought to be examined for possible Socialistic teachings.

You don't have to charge that the books are Socialistic, or demand that they ought to be thrown out of the schools. Just ask politely that certain textbooks be looked into. That's enough to start the march toward the wailing wall by the strangest collection of humans ever to sound off on a public issue. You catch a Communist under their beds and they only yawn. But mention a textbook and they launch into the vocal shakes.

Out in the state of Washington there is a small weekly newspaper, the Tri-City Herald. It is circulated in Pasco, Kennewick and Richland, Washington. It is now undergoing a name-calling attack for having stated in a news story about Kennecott schools:

"There is a textbook being used in local schools that I think ought to be examined by school authorities and parents."

The superintendent of Kennecott schools, the assistant superintendent, the principal of the high school, the business manager of the school district, the manager of the Kennecott branch of the National Bank of Commerce and director of the Chamber of Commerce all cancelled their subscriptions.

Glenn C. Lee, publisher of the Tri-City Herald, has been called an "enemy of the public school system," "a tool of capitalistic interests," and "a Hitler," and has been accused of "attacking teachers" and "labeling teachers as Socialists and Communists."

I repeat, all Lee wanted to do was to appoint a committee of businessmen, teachers, school authorities and parents to examine the writings and philosophy as expressed in one textbook.

Lee did not attack teachers; he did not attack the school board; he did not attack the integrity of school officials.

Not a single critic of the publisher has expressed a wish to study the textbook in question. They only attack the editor and his newspaper. Lee suspects that some of those shouting at him have personal axes to grind. He notes that several are interested in a local radio station, some in school administration, some in labor circles and some in chamber of commerce work. But they all joined forces simultaneously, as though the plan of attack had long been in preparation.

Lee is asking his readers now why it is wrong for anybody to speak out against a textbook. I join him in the question. It's a good one. Is any school district or school official in the nation being questioned about textbooks or school functions? In our business we suffer countless critics who do not like what we say, what we write or the newspapers that publish it. So far, however, I've yet to hear a publisher label these critics "enemies of freedom of the press," or "Hitlers" or anything else of the kind.

Not so long ago, school officials who now are slinging charges at the Washington state publisher, praised his newspaper for aiding in collecting funds for the schools. The publisher wasn't an enemy of anybody then. But he is now, because he wants to examine one textbook. So publisher Lee is asking a couple of more questions of his readers. They should be answered. Here they are:

Are threats of a boycott and name-calling the type of undiscriminatory education Kennecott educators advocate for young Americans?

Why have false issues been raised. And why the reluctance to examine the textbooks? I'll let you know if Publisher Lee gets the answers. They are important to all of us with kids in school.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

An Alarming Influence

The blatant commercial busting abruptly into the subject matter on any radio or video program has reached proportions where it has penetrated American social life and injected the Quick Switch into all conversations, speeches, etc. In any little chat one is apt to switch into an urgent appeal to buy something. A public speaker may follow an impassioned sentence on the threatened bastions of the free world with an immediate endorsement of an olive oil. We recorded the following at a dinner party the other evening:

Hostess—I'm so glad to have you all here tonight at this little dinner party. It's been such a long time since we got together, and it's delightful to find so many of my dear friends with me . . . But now a word about a delightful macaroni that, in the large economy-sized package, is attracting a nationwide market, etc . . . I hear you've been ill, Mrs. Cheevers.

Mrs. Cheevers. — Yes, but I feel very well now. It's a pleasure to see you in such good health and perhaps at this point I may say something about Oxy-mol, the soap powder with the deep blue suds, available at all up-to-date stores, etc.

Hostess—Mr. Willoughby, tell us about your trip to Europe. I understand you had a very wonderful tour. I should love to hear all about it immediately after a few words about Griggby's Miracle Eyelash Wash, etc.

Mr. Willoughby. — It was indeed a delightful trip. Paris is its same old charming self. I found the Riviera little changed. Florence is wonderful. I must tell you about an experience in Venice but I know you will all be interested in a very remarkable combination vaseline and coconut oil skin cream just put on the market in pints and quarts. Don't delay. Go out now and get yourself a bottle, etc.

Hostess. — What's this I hear about you, Miss Horntossel, being engaged to that charming Schmaltz boy. Don't be coy. Out with it, my dear, although I must interrupt now to say a few words about the most amazing ten-cent chocolate bar with the almonds inside, etc. What were you saying, Miss Horntossel?

Miss Horntossel. — There's nothing to it. I just happened to go to a dance with him and somebody made a mountain of it. He's really very nice, however. Six foot, dark and handsome, but I am sure you are all anxious to hear of a very splendid quick mix sponge cake. You just pour in a little milk, stir and put in the oven. Ask for Boffie's Whizband Quick Mix.

Hostess. — Oh, Mr. Tuttle, they say you are building a wonderful new home in the country and I am dying to hear about it. We have a few seconds before I call attention to Doldrum's Vitamin Enriched Doughnuts, etc.

Mr. Tuttle. — It's nothing pretentious. Just a little place of about fifteen rooms and if you have never tried Merry Maid Combination Stout Ale and Cod Liver Oil put up in a bottle which can be converted into the loveliest table lamp or used mothball container you just haven't lived. Would you please pass the turnips?

Hostess. — (completely overboard) To get these delicious turnips just take a penny postcard and address it to "Turnips, Box 34678, Cox Cob, Conn." saying you heard about turnips on this program.

A Loud Interrupting Voice. — Yes, there is no other cigar so free from fattening starches. Go to the store now . . . Don't delay! . . . And make tonight pleasant with a Cuban Baccaneer in the panatela size. Fifteen minutes from now Tex & Jinx. At 7 p. m. East Lynn. No other watch can make this statement.

Grand Jury Returns Five True Bills, Ignores Two Cases

Eighth Case Settled Before Reaching Jury

Five men were indicted by the Monroe county grand jury yesterday.

True bills were returned against: Roy G. Isley, 29, of 15 Crystal St., East Stroudsburg, charged with failing to stop at an accident scene, involuntary manslaughter and driving while intoxicated. Isley was arrested after the fatal injury of Willis E. Ensminger at Tobyhanna Oct. 21.

Alfred N. Seese, 59, Canadensis watchman, accused of driving while intoxicated near Canadensis Oct. 27.

Garfield Raymond, 43, Rockville Center, N. Y., charged with leaving an accident scene early in September on Route 209.

Charles Schaffer, 19, Phillipsburg, N. J., charged with burglary of a Delaware Water Gap store in November, 1949.

Albert Vernoy, about 50, of Cresco, charged with sodomy, solicitation to commit sodomy and indecent assault, and with indecent assault.

The grand jury found no true bills (ignored) two other cases presented.

They involved Homer Plattenburg, Stroud township, who had been accused of burglary and larceny; and Richard R. Lambert, 24, of 56 Lackawanna Ave., East Stroudsburg, who had been charged with assault and battery against Mrs. June Noble, 25, of 440 N. Fifth St., Stroudsburg.

Plattenburg, according to Stroudsburg State police, was accused of taking money from a coin box machine in Stroud Manor Analomink, early in October.

Mrs. Noble had charged Lambert with attacking her behind a garage near her home Nov. 23.

The reports were rendered by Jury Foreman Otto S. Marsh, Western Coolbaugh township, and Jury Secretary Hilda Garaventi, Stroudsburg housewife.

With only five cases to consider, the jury finished its day's work in short order. District Attorney Detlef A. Hansen began presenting the cases at 10 a. m. The jury had completed its session by 2:30 p. m.

It went on to make the customary inspection of county-operated buildings and facilities, had turned in its report and findings to President Judge Fred W. Davis by 5 p. m.

Other grand juries, usually with more cases to consider, average two days to complete their duties.

One of the cases scheduled for presentation was settled before it came to the jury.

It involved George Loyko Jr., 28, Pocono Summit truck driver, who pleaded guilty before Judge Davis to driving while intoxicated. He was fined $300 and costs, will remain in the county jail until payment of the fine.

Police said his auto struck the rear of a halted vehicle in Mount Pocono in October, causing a total $600 damages but no injuries.

Jury Inspects County Home, Jail, Makes Recommendations

A brief report was submitted to President Judge Fred W. Davis by the grand jury yesterday following a brisk inspection of county-operated facilities.

Inspections of the county home at Kellersville, the county court house and county jail took about two and a half hours.

Jurors recommended: At the county home, "fixing of the floors in the men's lavatory, state inspection of the steam boilers, altering of doors to open in accordance with state fire regulations, provision of a safe place for storing paint, and some form of amusement for residents at the home."

At the county jail, "repairs wherever necessary, from top to bottom, painting of the interior, repair of a hole in the floor under the radiator in the hall, and construction of a rear fire exit." It was added that the matron should have a "full time helper."

At the county court house, "fix the roofs and ceiling."

He was Pvt. Walter T. Learn, 21, Columbia, N. J., absent without leave from Fort Dix, N. J. He was being held by Blairstown police on the AWOL charge for return to military custody.

Pfc. Kearn questioned Learn at Blairstown yesterday in connection with the theft. The junk dealer was listed as Arthur Frantz.

Pfc. Kearn said Learn will be turned over to military police, but a detainer will be lodged against him for action after he is released by military authorities.

Churchmen Hear Plea

Buck Hill Falls (AP) — A crusade to place the Christian message of goodness and godliness before men and women who live in large cities was urged yesterday by a New York City churchman.

Dr. William J. Villalume, an official of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the USA, described American cities as "the greatest missionary field in the United States."

The church must therefore, he observed, turn more and more attention away from rural areas to the large populations in urban communities.

And in that crusade, he added, the conversion of men and women to the worth of "goodness and godliness" must be left primarily in the hands of laymen, themselves part of the "workaday world."

Dr. Villalume said of the city dweller: "He secretly yearns for fellowship, guidance and a deeper meaning for life. The Christian faith must be presented by some one whom the city dweller is convinced understands his feelings and problems. In cities, that is rarely the clergymen."

Dr. H. P. Conrad Hoyer of Chicago, executive secretary of the National Lutheran council's Division of American Missions, spoke of the need for churches to consider the problems of men and women who have taken up defense

Haluska To Seek Perjury Prosecutions If Senators Attempt To Impeach Him

Harrisburg, AP — Sen. John J. Haluska (D-Cambria) said last night he would seek perjury prosecutions against any senator who may try to oust him as an outgrowth of an imminent bribery investigation.

"If they try to impeach me, I'll go after them for perjury," said Haluska. "If an honest man can't speak his mind without facing impeachment, then it's too bad for the people of Pennsylvania."

Haluska made the statement at a news conference in response to a query on what might happen if he fails to substantiate his charges that he was offered a bribe to vote for the income tax.

A special 10-man Senate investigating committee opens the probe this morning.

The Cambria county senator also disclosed that a previous commitment has forced former Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti to step aside as his counsel.

Margiotti asked that the probe be postponed until January, far beyond the December 22 adjournment date fixed by the General Assembly.

Haluska told newsmen: "I feel that any further delay (in the hearing) of these charges would not only be detrimental to the innocent members of the State Senate but would leave the Pennsylvania public in a doubtful frame of mind."

The senator said he would act as his own counsel in "naming names and places" involved in the attempted income tax bribe.

Haluska also disclosed that he would have only "circumstantial evidence" to back up his charges. He said he would seek to prove his case from what he termed a long series of circumstances dating back to the introduction last April of the bill to impose a one-half of one per cent income tax.

The senator also hinted that the alleged bribe was offered to him at the Hershey hotel where Gov. John S. Fine met in September with a delegation of Democratic senators on the income tax controversy.

The charges first were made public by Haluska at Ebensburg in October. He was quoted as saying:

"I was offered sufficient patronage that if I used to my advantage I would be sitting pretty the balance of my life, if I would withdraw my opposition to the state income tax."

work employment in and around cities.

These people, he said, often are passed by in favor of the service-man "because the latter's situation is more dramatic."

"We sometimes feel that our congregations would prefer not to be disturbed by the constant procession of defense workers going on around them," Dr. Hoyer remarked.

Cost of fuel materials and other supplies of Class I railroads in the United States rose nearly $100 million from 1949 to 1950, reaching a total of $1,739,908,000.

The car of Mrs. Alice M. Marsh, of 1066 W. Main St., Stroudsburg, was damaged extensively at 5:05 p. m. yesterday when it struck a telephone pole and a rock wall on Route 612 a mile south of Stroudsburg.

Mrs. Marsh was uninjured, said Pfc. Alex G. Kearn of the Stroudsburg barracks. The car's right front fender, headlight, bumper, radiator and grille were damaged. The auto was towed to a Stroudsburg garage.

Mrs. Marsh told police she was approaching Stroudsburg from Easton when an on-coming car made her go off the highway on the right. No damage was done to the pole, police said.

WAITING FOR THE WOMAN'S club members to have their tea are left to right: Mrs. William R. Levering, chairman of program, Mrs. Carl Hirt, a member of the tea committee, and Mrs. Ben I. Fansler, Mrs. Detlef Hansen and Mrs. Kenneth Barthold, co-chairmen. Mrs. Gerald Anderson, not present, was also a co-chairman.

Collegian Sing For Womans Club

The rafters of the Stroud Community House rang with song yesterday afternoon when the mixed chorus of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, singing for the Christmas meeting of the Stroudsburg Woman's club, really let their voices out on some of the triumphant carols.

The 45-voice chorus under the direction of Dr. Donald B. Corson head of the music department of the college also sang some of the tender carols and lullabies, the whole woven together by the Bible story from Luke, read by John Sebring, a senior at the college.

The chorus was introduced by Mrs. William Levering, chairman of music, who had arranged the program.

Mrs. George T. Robinson, president, brought the Christmas greeting of the executive board, emphasizing that while under present world conditions it was foolish to wish them a "merry" Christmas, still Christmas could be a time of the rebirth of faith in oneself, in our country, and in a just God, whose special plan for that country could still be carried out if its people were willing to seek and do His will.

Mrs. Clifford Heller gave the opening prayer for peace, and the club sang carols with Mrs. Levering as accompanist. In the report of the executive board, the group heard of their gift of $25 to the Teen-age Youth Center; of $5 to the Monroe Tuberculosis society; and of four CARE packages to Korea.

Mrs. Walter H. Caulfield, first vice president and welfare chairman, gave the report of the Well-Baby clinic, sponsored by the Woman's club whose members serve as registrars, assisted in weighing, measuring, dressing and undressing the small clients, which since June when the present administration began number 251 babies with 31 new ones.

Before receiving the Child welfare offering from the members, Mrs. Caulfield explained that it is used to provide medicine when recommended by the clinic physician, Dr. Charles Rushmore, and when parents are unable to supply it; to provide a collapsible booth for the clinic rooms being made by the students in East Stroudsburg High school; and to pay for the Christmas party which this year will be held December 20 from 1 to 3 p. m. At that time, a Christmas tree, cookies, candy, fruit and a small toy will be given to each baby reporting at the clinic.

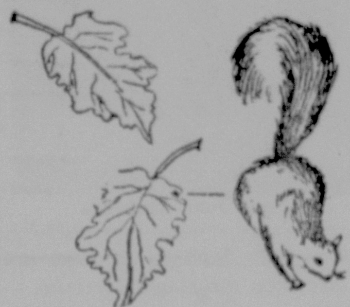

Announcement was made of the award of prizes for the doll-dressing contest in which club members had dressed dolls for the Salvation Army with Mrs. Arthur Helmes being given a certificate for a baby doll; Miss Miriam Lark for a little girl doll; Mrs. Steward Shiffer for an old doll redressed and to Mrs. Leo Dornbos for a hand-made doll.

During the meeting, a moment of silence was held in memory of Mrs. Harvey Blair and Mrs. George Marsh.

Mrs. Claude Leister was elected third vice president of the club, replacing Mrs. Leo Dornbos who has moved away. Mrs. LeRoy Koehler was chairman of the nominating committee.

Mrs. Robinson also voiced her thanks to the fine arts committee: Mrs. Eli Travis and Mrs. Paul Lloyd for decorating the club rooms, and to the hostess chairmen, and their committee in charge of the Christmas Tea.

Members of the college chorus included Vivian Amburst, Alice Azarian, Diane Baird, Eleanor Barber, Joan Beidel, Joseph Bertucci, Edward Bishop, Jerry Blake, Arlene Carcione, Robert Chudzinski, James Collier, Joseph DeRenzis, Albert DeSousa, Peggy Ann Errico, Mary Farrell, Emma Jean Fellencer, Mildred Fosgreen, Jerry Fritz, Fred Gahres, Shirley Hamblin, Gertrude King, Jennie Lambride, David E. Mrs. Rogalinski At State Board Of Women Demos

Mrs. Willita Rogalinski of 531 Queen St., Stroudsburg, and state corresponding secretary of the Pennsylvania Federation of Democratic Women attended the quarterly meeting of the federation at the Penn Harris hotel, in Harrisburg on Friday.

Mrs. Helen D. Sutton, of Easton, Federation president, presided at the meeting in which she said "we are organizing for 52." In this connection, Mrs. Ruth Grigg Horting of Lancaster, vice chairman of the state committee, urged that women be given a 50-50 opportunity to serve as delegates to the Democratic National convention. She urged that voters dropping from the voters' list be persuaded to re-register.

Plans were announced for the state convention to be held at the Hotel Yorktown, York, on May 11 through 14.

Mrs. Emma Guffey Miller, national committee woman from Pennsylvania, decried the smear campaigns against public officials and urged that only legitimate and fair investigations be held.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Never thought we'd make it, did you? But here we are. Meetings, parades and all. The Woman's club program was wonderful, and you sort of got a shiver down your back when that college chorus really let out their voices in that small room.

And the scene in the lower hall afterward was something, with all the chorus members in their black gowns and red stoles drinking coke and eating pretzels which the committee had thoughtfully provided, feeling that they'd enjoy it more than the formal tea upstairs.

Last night, however, you found the college students getting their refreshments in the kitchen at the YMCA after they'd given the Ann Logan members a chance to find out what their Kiwanian husbands had been chuckling about ever since last Wednesday.

That kitchen had a sort of traffic jam of its own last night with the Eastern Star card party in one room and the Anna Logans in the other, and both of them making coffee at the same time.

Wasn't anything to the traffic in town, though, just before the parade. Thought we never would get our contribution to the band over in time for her to march in it.

But we did, and they did and everything came out even — except for the trumpet players from the college who found that the Y piano and their trumpets didn't play the same tune. Fortunately for the vocal soloist, he could tune himself to the piano.

Shirley, John Sebring, William Sibley, Shirley Slick, Joan Stecher, Harry Steever, Robert Strunk, Shirley Toms, Janet Werkheiser, Ernest Williams and Jennene Zugel, who was the accompanist.

Anna Logans Have Program By Students

Emphasis on laughter was the keynote of the program given last night at the meeting of the Anna Logan Society of the General hospital at the YMCA, though the annual Christmas program had its notes of beauty and solemnity as well. Mrs. Robert A. Miller presided and Mrs. Robert Schell introduced the program. Rev. Dr. P. N. Wohlsten gave the invocation.

Susan Shafer led off the program with an Irish lilt on toe with Barbara Levy presenting a tap on toe to the music of Rudolph the Red-Nosed reindeer, both in costume.

The balance of the program was presented by a group of students at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College with Jerry Blake as master of ceremonies. Andy Levendis and Clem Da Vince provided the comedy in their pantomimes to recordings of "She's A Lady", "Wild Bill Hiccup" and "Go to Sleep".

Charles Wilson and Don Coombe were prepared for a trumpet duet, but the piano was not tuned to the trumpets. Jerry Blake sang "I Love Life" and "The Lost Chord" with Miss Jennene Zugel as accompanist.

After the program, the birthday calendars were distributed to the team captains for sale, and refreshments were served with the captains, who were in charge of the Christmas program, also serving as hostesses.

Mr. Eugene Emmerich, Mrs. Anna Slickemver and Mrs. Russell Kern were welcomed as new members.

Name Corrected

Mrs. Clyde Houck is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Van Buskirk, of Henryville, who are celebrating their 23rd wedding anniversary today. Her name was misprinted in a previous story.

One of the busy center-aisle display tables last Saturday held an assortment of knitted muffler and glove sets, that always make such acceptable gifts for men. Priced at $3.95, they come in tan, yellow, wine, and interesting color combinations. They started me thinking that Christmas is really a time for that "handy" gift . . . and I began shopping the store for other items of the same nature. The men's department produced a large case of gloves in kid, pigskin and deer skin, lined with either fur or wool. The prices begin at a modest $1.95, going in easy stages to $8.50.

The ladies' glove department showed an interesting array of kid, pigskin, and pigtex gloves, the kid being priced at $3.75 and $4.50 and the others from $2.95 to $4.50. And did you know that the kids come in red and pink, as well as the customary white, black, brown and beige? In colors, they are wonderful grace notes to an ensemble.

On a nearby table were nylon and wool skating socks embroidered with gay figure skaters, geometric designs, and Indians, priced at $1.39 and $1.50. . . perfect team mates for the fancy wool gloves and mittens in bright colors with raised, embroidered ornamentation that reaches all the way to the finger tips. Roses and butterflies add a touch of springtime to these all-winter wearables. These come at $1.00 for the smaller, less intricate styles, and $1.25 for the more elaborate and larger.

Sportswear offers ski mittens in ever-popular poplin, and one's choice of navy, red, or white can be made to the tune of $1.98, while the Teen department proudly shows string gloves with all wool lining at $1.49; angora at $1.69, and fancy mittens at $1.59. Fancy gloves and mittens for children are $1.19 and $1.69. Bunny fur is priced at $2.29. And for the baby and small child there are wools ranging from 79c to $1.00, with angora at $1.69.

majorettes—three blonds and one brunette—dressed in attractive black-and-white uniforms, paving the way for the martial showmanship of the American Legion band, George N. Kemp post.

A few murmurs of recognition were heard as the "official welcoming committee" rode by in its car, followed by the East Stroudsburg High School Band.

With the arrival of the first float—a large replica of an open book, with the printed words "Twas the night before Christmas and all through the house . . ." on the open pages—the parade had officially begun.

On both sides of Main St. there were shouts of recognition from students who saw (or thought they saw) classmates and friends among the groups pulling the floats down the street.

The floats and balloons were the big attraction of the parade. The biggest hit of all was a disjointed, rambling dragon called Freddy. Freddy, in advance accounts, had been billed as "Freddy the Friendly Dragon". Somewhere along the line, Freddy got out of sorts. Last night, he maneuvered from one side of the street to the other in fiery, mock "attacks" on the watching audience. The "attacks" were well-managed and manipulated by the group of students who were in charge of Freddy's progress.

A series of balloon letters, spelling out the word TOYLAND, sprawled in broken formation as a centerpiece to the parade's pattern. The Stroudsburg High school, and East Stroudsburg State Teachers College bands provided an additional touch of martial music to the proceedings.

Bringing up the rear of the parade, after a countless array of animal and human caricatures, was the "giant" Christmas tree pulled by a jeep. The tree, decked out in gala lights, revolved as it moved along, throwing alternate light and shadow on the shining upturned faces of children on the sidewalk.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Silfice and family, of Newark, N. J. recently visited the latter's mother and sister, Mrs. Carrie Durland and Elnore.

No Christmas Trees This Year

The Water Company will not have any Christmas trees for sale this year, but will accept orders at the office for a few extra large trees suitable for stores and outside use at the price of five dollars each.

10 County Residents Become U. S. Citizens At Impressive Ceremonies In Court House

Drama passed virtually unnoticed in the county court house yesterday.

It was a commonplace drama in its way—and in its way as gripping as a TV thriller.

The script ran something like this:

Scene: The gloomily-ornate courtroom of President Judge Fred W. Davis. A handful of family members and friends watch from the back of the hushed room.

Time: 10 a. m.

Characters: Judge Davis, Prothonotary Claude E. Metzgar, 10 women.

The curtain of legality rises . . .

Metzgar: Raise your right hands and repeat after me . . . (Ten hands are raised).

Kathleen Auger (Saylorsburg):

I hereby declare, on oath, that I absolutely and entirely renounce and abjure . . .

Marie Hilda Erard (Skytop): . . . All allegiance and fidelity to any foreign prince, potentate, state, or sovereignty . . .

Irene Maria Yakita (Tobyhanna): . . . of whom or which I have heretofore been a subject or citizen . . .

Freda Coco (Stroudsburg): . . . that I will support and defend the Constitution . . .

Marjorie Harding (Stroudsburg): . . . and laws of the United States of America against all enemies, foreign and domestic . . .

Joan Mary Macomber (Stroudsburg): . . . that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same . . .

Matilda Gray Potcher (Stroudsburg): . . . that I will bear arms on behalf of the United States or perform noncombatant service in the Armed Forces of the United States when required by law . . .

Marjorie Joan Zateeny (Stroudsburg): . . . and that I take this obligation freely . . .

Eva Hannelore Marie Van Hooenburgh (Swiftwater): . . . without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion . . .

Herta Anita Olssonmer (East Stroudsburg): . . . so help me God.

The strength of the United States of America has just been increased by 10 citizens.

The real-life curtain rings down.

Chamber Thanks Everyone Who Helped With Parade

An expression of thanks to everyone who contributed to the success of the balloon parade last night was extended by the Chamber of Commerce, which sponsored the event.

Signed by G. P. O'Neill, C. of C. president; John Miller, Christmas committee chairman, and Max Stadfeld, parade chairman, the statement said:

"On behalf of the entire membership of the Retail Trades division of the Chamber of Commerce, we would like to take this opportunity to thank all the public-spirited citizens and organizations who helped to make last night's Christmas parade a success.

"This includes the choral groups from both boroughs, firemen from both boroughs, the police departments, State police, the drum and bugle corps, the marching bands and their majorettes, Santa Claus and, of course, the dozens of students from both Stroudsburg and

With the appearance of Roseto's precision-drilled American Legion drum and bugle corps (Marteocapobianco Post No. 750) the parade was brought to a sprightly, professional finish.

All along the street, the crowds disappeared rapidly, getting away from the muggy, mid-December air. Some went into waiting retail stores; others walked quickly down side streets to their waiting cars.

On the corners, balloon-sellers were still selling balloons.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Saturday's 68-64 victory over East Stroudsburg State Teachers College by Wilkes College was the result of one of the greatest demonstrations of team foul shooting in the history of basketball. The Colonels exhibited perfect marksmanship from the free-throw line, converting 24 straight charity shots, in as many attempts. The great demonstration of foul shooting certainly meant the difference between victory and defeat for Wilkes. This column for the past five years has been urging the High school players of Monroe county to brush up on their form from the foul line, and Saturday's demonstration by Wilkes proves the importance of foul shooting.

Kutztown State Teachers, ESSTC's foe last night, scored a thrilling 56-55 over Bloomsburg State Teachers on Saturday. The ESSTC junior varsity cage machine isn't scheduled to make any road trips this season. Rev. Ernest T. Campbell, pastor of the Stroudsburg Presbyterian church, is one of the top hockey fans in Monroe county. The Pocono Mountains Basketball league remains uncertain for the coming campaign, as at least two of the regular entries are thinking of combining suitable players, both in number and ability.

Although ESSTC held West Chester State Teachers to a 2-2 tie in soccer during the past campaign, the Rams placed two players on the South all-star team that took the measure of the North squad at La Salle's McCarthy Stadium, in Philadelphia, 3-2, last Saturday. However, the Warriors weren't able to land even one position, which from this angle appears slightly peculiar under the circumstances. There is still plenty of room for entries in the Monroe County Singles and Doubles Handicap Bowling tournament to be held from December 26 to 29. However, the deadline for entries is next Sunday, at midnight.

The unfortunate part of the Minor league convention at Columbus, O., last week was the fact that such outstanding baseball men as Rollie Hemsley, Nick Culp, Jack Onslow, Jimmy Brown, Jo-Jo White and Johnny Vander Meer were present as job seekers. Reports received thus far reveal that Brown and White were among the lucky few to land diamond positions for 1952. It is quite possible that Lou Diamond, Scranton entry in the class "A" Eastern league will obtain the services of Mark Jones, former catcher with the Carbondale Pioneer Blues, when the North Atlantic league was still in operation. Jones was recently drafted out of the Phillies' farm system by the St. Louis Browns, who also just signed a working agreement with Scranton.

Jim Watson, a member of the same Carbondale team a few years ago has also been drafted out of the Phillies' farm system. Watson was recently picked up by the Colorado Springs farm of the Chicago White Sox. Colorado Springs is a member of the class "A" Western league. Dan Carnevale, one of the most successful pilots on the Phillies' system, is being talked about as the next pilot at Baltimore, of the International League. Danny earned his managerial spurs at Carbondale and was a teammate of Watson's.

The death of Bill Lewis in Bangor last week deprived the area of a well known baseball figure. Lewis, in the past caught for many of the area's top diamond contingents, including teams in Nazareth and Stroudsburg. However, Lewis made a real mark for himself in Lehigh Valley baseball when he did the back-stopping for the Bethlehem Steel club during World War I. Pioneer A. A. is presenting Shull Junior High's football team with a banquet tonight, in Easton. Shull won Easton's Junior High title during the past campaign. Ben Everett, son of Art Everett, 720-A Main St., and a former Stroudsburg resident himself, coached the Shull eleven.

Johnny Goepfert Sr., is currently in his thirty-second year as basketball coach at Mahanoy High school. Johnny Jr. was a basketball and football star at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College prior to graduation and his entrance into the coaching profession. Henry Williams Jr., an annual member of at least one tournament at Shawnee-on-Delaware, has confirmed that he will remain at Berkleigh Country club, near Kutztown, next year. Speaking of Shawnee brings to mind the fact that several improvements are in order for the championship course, especially the tenth hole. However, as far as the much discussed new course is concerned, it is still very much in the speculative stage.

Savitt Suffers Painful Loss To Australian Tennis Ace

Melbourne, Australia, (AP)—Big Dick Savitt caught a painful, straight set beating from Frank Sedgman of Australia yesterday in a rainy final of the Victoria Tennis championships and promptly was yanked from a singles berth in the inter-zone Davis Cup final against Sweden starting here Thursday.

Hellertown On Bangor Court Tonight

Bangor — Bangor High school, having suffered two pre-season reversals at the hands of Stroudsburg High, will launch its 1951-1952 Lehigh-Northampton league flag chase tonight while playing host to annually powerful Hellertown, on the Bangor High court.

The junior varsity contest is listed for 6:45 and the varsity encounter for approximately 8:15.

Lineups — Coach Jim Heard is expected to stick by the lineup that he opened with against Stroudsburg on both occasions. This means that the quick moving Asa Fysher and Joe D'Imperio will be at the forward spots, while Dick Craver operates at center. Joe Heard and Bob Egbert will handle the guard positions.

Hellertown as in the past, will bring a quick moving and highly regarded cage machine into town that is a distinct threat for another Lehigh-Northampton league title.

Bangor is also scheduled to go through its paces on Friday, stacking up against Coplay, on the Coplay hardwood.

ESSTC Turns Kutztown Into Initial Victim

Schmidt Leads Mates To Victory, 75-61

Kutztown — Bill Schmidt, high-scoring forward, exploded points all over the place for the second straight game last night and East Stroudsburg State Teachers College landed its first win in three outings with a comfortable 75-61 verdict over Kutztown State Teachers, here on the losing team's home hardwood.

Schmidt, who tallied 23 markers against Wilkes College last Saturday, drove home 30 last night, or ten field goals and the same number of conversions from the foul line. The Dumont, N. J., high graduate was awarded a total of 13 charity tosses.

ESSTC was in complete control of the game from start to finish, gaining a 7-0 lead before Kutztown converted a foul shot at the three and one-half minute mark of the opening round. Dan Dinan, who accounted for five field goals, made two of them from outside during the early rush.

In fact, the Warriors had to do virtually all their scoring from the outside, as the defensive measures devised by Kutztown refused to allow the red and black clad cagers to drive under the bucket. Schmidt was doing almost all his scoring from the corners, along with Dinan, while the remainder of the points were accounted for from outside of Kutztown's zone or from the foul line.

Big Advantage — ESSTC made certain of victory in the third period with a 24-9 advantage in the scoring race.

However, the victory may have been a costly one for the charges of Coach Ed Shay, as reliable Jim Frawley was helped from the court with a knee injury during the last minute of play. Frawley had injured the knee, in a skirmish under the basket in the second period and departed from the game at that point, only to return to the wars at the beginning of the third stanza.

ESSTC lost the services of Dinan and Joe Maioriello, via the five-foul rule, in the final quarter and George Landes fouled out of the game for Kutztown during the last round.

Bob Close was the big gun in a losing cause, scoring 20 points for the Kutztown contingent.

ESSTC made 19 of 27 foul shots, while Kutztown came through with 19 of 29 attempts from the charity line.

Davis Scores Ring Upset

New York (AP)—Teddy "Red Top" Davis, 131, of Hartford, Conn., scored an upset last night when he defeated Frederico Plummer, 128½, ranking featherweight from Panama, in the eight-round main event at the St. Nicholas arena.

Style Hurts — Plummer, making his American debut and beaten only twice in 33 fights, was bothered by Davis' swarming style, and couldn't get an attack under way. He last his best round, the fourth, for hitting low.

Cavaliers Host To Nazareth In Opener

East Stroudsburg High school lifts the lid on the 1951-1952 basketball season tonight, when the Cavaliers play host to Nazareth, in a Lehigh-Northampton league contest, to be played on the N. Courtland St. court. The junior varsity contest will begin at 6:45 and the main event at 8 p. m.

Coach Dick Forsier will be making his initial appearance as a cage mentor at East Stroudsburg High tonight, with a large crowd expected to be on hand to see if the Cavaliers can atone for the football setback suffered at the hands of Nazareth on the final day of the past season.

Forsier has elected to launch the ship with a starting five featuring three lettermen from last year, Ray Steele, lanky six foot, three inch center will be back at his usual pivot spot, with Joe Chase, Jack Tredinnick and Dick Transue dividing the two forward spots, while Paul "Candy" Miller and Dick Newton operate from the guard spots.

Lettermen — Steele, Newton and Miller are the only three members of last year's team rating among the first six at the present time. Forsier has been working the squad hard since the close of football season, in an effort to have the cage machine in top condition for tonight's opening contest. Forsier reports his charges in good mental and physical condition, but no predictions were available for tonight's battle or for what may happen during the coming campaign.

East Stroudsburg is expected to feature the fast break type of offense and a man-to-man defense, with the option of turning it into a zone.

Chase is a sophomore and the youngest member of the team. Steele and Tredinnick are seniors, while Miller, Transue and Newton are products of the junior class.

The Cavaliers return to action on Friday, when the purple and white color bearers invade the home domain of Hellertown. Stroudsburg High school's varsity contingent isn't scheduled for action this week, but will play host to Scranton Central High next Tuesday.

Late Basket Decides

Evansville, Ill. (AP)—Sophomore Frank Petracek, six foot, seven inch center, made a basket in the final 30 seconds of the game last night to give Northwestern an 80-77 victory over Western Michigan. It was the Wildcats' second straight win of the basketball season.

Phils Send Four To Reds For Three In First Major Deal

New York, (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds yesterday traded Pitcher Howard Foß, Second Baseman Connie Ryan and Catcher Forrest Burgess to the Philadelphia Phillies for Catcher Andy Seminick, Outfielder Dick Sisler, Infielder Eddie Pellagrini and Pitcher Nyles Jordan.

The seven player deal, only important swap of the winter meetings, brought an ace right-handed pitcher to the Phillies in Fox, who won nine and lost 14 for the Reds, and Ryan, a regular second baseman who hit .237. Burgess was acquired by Cincinnati from Chicago in a four-player swap after the close of the season.

The Reds get Seminick, starting catcher in the 1950 all-star game, who appeared in 101 games and hit .227 and Sisler, a regular left fielder with first base experience who batted .287 in 125 games. The other new Reds are Pellagrini, utility infielder, who hit .234 in 88 games, and Jordan, a 24-year-old left-handed pitcher with a 2-3 record after being brought up from the Wilmington, Del., farm in the Inter-State league in late season.

The deal was consummated after a four-hour conference attended by President Bob Carpenter and Manager Eddie Sawyer of the Phils and General Manager Gabe Paul and Manager Luke Sewell of the Reds. The deal came shortly after most of the major league contingent scattered for their homes at the close of the major league meetings.

Sawyer said Ryan will be his regular second baseman and Fox a starting pitcher. Burgess will figure in a scramble with Del Wilber and Stan Lopata for the number one catching job. He emphasized that the Phils are not yet through dealing.

Sewell said Seminick will be the first string catcher and Sisler would fit into the regular lineup. He said he'd count on Pellagrini as utility infielder and has high hopes for young Jordan.

Six County League Teams In Action

Every member of the Monroe County League returns to the hardwood tonight, but all in pre-season activity. In all cases the junior varsity struggle begins at 7:15 p.m. and the main event one hour later.

Polk High will make its only appearance of the season on the Stroudsburg High court, when the red and white clad charges of Coach Art Smith tangle with the Stroudsburg High junior varsity in the main event tonight, while Stroudsburg Junior High plays host to the Polk junior varsity in the preliminary event.

Pocono High will get a chance to avenge a one-sided defeat at the hands of Greene-Dreher-Sterling tonight, when the pupils of Coach Harry Werkheiser play host to the Wayne County Conference entry, in both a junior varsity and varsity encounter. Greene-Dreher took the measure of Pocono on the Newfoundland court last week, 73-26.

Old Foes — Coolbaugh and Barrett, both league members, clash on the latter's home court, in a contest that will not count in the standings. The rivals have identical records of one victory and two setbacks and both will be out to even their marks tonight. There is both a preliminary and main event scheduled.

Tobyhanna Township High, defending circuit title holder, will be at home with the Alumni in an annual contest, T.H.S., shooting for its third straight crown, has two pre-season victories to its credit thus far this season.

Chestnuthill High rounds out tonight's schedule by playing host to the East Stroudsburg Warriors, a team of students from East Stroudsburg High school. A game between two teams selected from junior varsity material will precede the main event. Chestnuthill opened its campaign last Friday with a 38-32 decision over the Brodheadsville Trojans.

Gonzales Keeps Record Intact

Newark, N. J. (AP)—Unbeaten welterweight Tex Gonzales of East Orange won a lopsided decision over Arnold Curry, McKeesport, Pa., last night in the feature eight-rounder at Laurel Gardens.

Ends Controversy — It laid to rest controversy over a previous bout in which Gonzales was awarded a KO victory when Curry refused to answer the bell for the fifth round, claiming he had been hit after the gong in the fourth.

After a hearing in which Curry contended Gonzales should have been penalized, State Athletic Commissioner Abe J. Greene ruled the McKeesport boxer could have his purse for the first fight after last night's match.

Defends Golf Crown

Pinehurst, N.C. (AP)—Defending champion Ben F. Krafft Jr., of Titusville, Pa., and Southern Pines won the playoff here yesterday for the Southern Seniors Golf Association championship. Krafft, touted the number one Pinehurst Country Club course with a 36-35-74 to win over Paul H. Hyde of Buffalo, N.Y., and R. E. Duke of Raleigh.

Blue Mountain Circuit Plans For Banquet

East Bangor — Seven of the eight members of the Blue Mountain Baseball League were present at a circuit meeting here at the East Bangor Fire House last night. Woodrow A. Jones, Nazareth, president of the league, was in charge of the gathering.

Vito Curcio, chairman of the banquet committee, reported that the tentative dates for the annual winter affair are either January 29 or 31 or February 5 and 7, depending upon when Benny Borgman, head basketball coach at Muhlenberg College can appear as guest speaker. Borgman also managed the Houston entry in the Texas League for a portion of the 1950 campaign. Banquet plans also call for the showing of the 1951 World Series film.

The league is hopeful of obtaining the Tatamy Fire House for its banquet, but plans won't be definite until the Monday, January 7 meeting, at the Martocci-Capobianco American Legion Post in Roseto.

In addition to Curcio, the banquet committee is made up of Wallace Stein, Portland, and Dr. Nicholas Cascario, Roseto.

Trophy Committee — The trophy committee made its report concerning the various awards, indicating that most of them are ready at the present time. The trophy committee is composed of chairman George Messinger, Tatamy; Les Ziegenfuss, Johnsonville, and Armon Williams, secretary-treasurer of the Blue Mountain League.

Dr. Cascario was named chairman of the nominating committee which also includes John Schoonover, Pocono A. C.; John Drew, Pocono A. C., and Gilbert Ackerman, East Bangor. This committee will also report on nominations for the offices of president, vice-president and secretary-treasurer at the next meeting.

Each team is presented with 15 tickets for the banquet and enjoys the option of purchasing more at a reduced rate.

Roseto was the only team not represented last night, due to the fact that Dr. Cascario had previous commitments. Pocono A. C. was represented by Drew and Walter Stem; Portland, Stein; Johnsonville, William Golden; East Bangor, Ackerman and Manager Paul LaBar; West Bangor, Curcio; Tatamy, Messinger, and Stockertown, Manager Bob Seibler.

Kentucky Rated Top Cage Machine

By Rip Watson

New York, (AP)—Kentucky, which won the NCAA basketball championship and the final 1951 Associated Press poll of basketball teams, came out on top again yesterday in the first AP poll of the nation's top ten cage teams.

Coach Adolph Rupp's Wildcats, who opened their season Saturday night with an impressive 96-46 wallop of Washington & Lee, apparently convinced the nation's sportswriters and sportscasters that they still rate the top berth. Kentucky polled 40 of the 98 first place votes and wound up with a total of 1,021 votes—the only team to go over the 1,000 mark.

St. John's veteran team was ranked second, pointing up the two teams' clash at Lexington, Ky., one week from last night as one of the early season's top games. The Brooklyn Redmen, who have won three straight without undue difficulty, received 17 first place votes and a total of 849 points.

Scoring

Points are awarded on a basis of ten for first, nine for second, eight for third, etc., down to one point for tenth place.

Illinois, St. Louis and Kansas State, perennial mid-west powers who also made the final 1950-51 poll, were next in line. The defending Big Ten champions from Illinois, fifth last year, are rated third with 511 points, moving up from tenth last year to fourth and Kansas State going from fourth to fifth in this poll. Illinois had 757 points, St. Louis 486 and Kansas State 382.

Washington, pride of the Pacific Coast, finished sixth with 299; Oregon of Seton Hall, The South Orange, N. J., school had 268 points to edge out Kansas, which had 250. La Salle with 209 and North Carolina State with 168 rounded out the first ten.

The second ten was made up of Indiana, Duke, Oklahoma A & M, Notre Dame, Villanova, Stanford, Louisville, Vanderbilt, Eastern Kentucky and New York University.

Length Of Contract Only Problem Remaining Before Stanky Officially Takes Over Cards

By Joe Reichler

New York (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals completed a deal with the New York Giants for Eddie Stanky yesterday and the peppy little second baseman is expected to sign today as new manager of the Redbirds.

Stanky said at his home in Fair Hope, Ala., that everything is settled except the length of contract and "we will definitely straighten that out today." It's a matter of whether the contract is for two or three years.

Stanky goes to the Cardinals in exchange for veteran southpaw pitcher Max Lanier and outfielder "Chuck" Dierker.

The three principals—the Giants, Cards and Stanky—completed details in a series of long-distance telephone calls after Horace Stoneham, president of the Giants, had granted the Card owner permission to approach the veteran infielder.

Stanky said he planned to leave by plane early today for St. Louis and reach there shortly after 2 p.m. (CST). Saigh departed by train last night.

The Giants said the deal was set—but they wouldn't disclose the players they will get—and that it was up to Stanky and Saigh to come to an agreement on terms.

Permission Granted
Until the Giants gave permission, Saigh couldn't discuss the managerial position with Stanky because of baseball's rule against tampering.

Stanky will receive about $37,500 a year from the Cards, a $5,000 boost of the pay he reportedly received with the Giants for the past season. He succeeded Marty Marion, who was dismissed after he had led the Cards to third place in his first year at the helm. Marion since has signed as a player-coach with the rival St. Louis Browns.

This deal was the only big one to come to fruition at the minor and major league meetings in Columbus, O., and here.

Today the Yanks and Joe DiMaggio will hold a press conference to announce the Yankee Clipper's future plans. The consensus is that Big Joe, long-time mainstay of the world champions, will call it quits as a ballplayer and sign a contract for some $50,000 to help telecast the Yankee games. An opening was created in the TV department when "Dizzy" Dean returned to St. Louis.

Meanwhile, the National League wound up its meeting with a brief session and a few diehard executives hung around in the hopes of making at least one good deal.

The National changed its waiver rule to conform to that of the American loop. The Nationals cut the time to act on waivers from ten to seven days. The senior circuit executives also discussed radio and television in a closed meeting.

Among the proposals was one by Phil Wrigley of the Chicago Cubs that some minor league games be broadcast during the week of some sort of a game of the day show. Wrigley was reported to have suggested that two minor league games should be aired on a rotating basis. Games would be picked from the Pacific Coast League down to leagues of class "A".

Burglary Sentence Suspended

Charles Schaffer, 19, Phillipsburg, N. J. received a suspended sentence in Monroe county court yesterday after pleading guilty to two 1949 burglaries.

Police Chief Fred Decker, of Delaware Water Gap, where the burglaries occurred, testified to details of the break-ins. Then Attorney Robert Ungerleider, Bethlehem, the youth's counsel outlined Schaffer's background for the court.

Schaffer had been arrested at the age of 13—for stealing butter and coffee, the attorney said. At the age of 17 he was sentenced to Camp Hill Industrial school for an indefinite period for a Northampton burglary and larceny.

Ungerleider told the court Schaffer had been one of a gang, its youngest member. He had been assigned the task of driving the car which was used, received only a few hooked rugs and a pencil set as his share of the loot from the Delaware Water Gap thefts. They had been returned to the owners, the attorney said.

Ungerleider, who was appointed by the Northampton county court to represent the youth at his previous trial, said Schaffer had been an exemplary prisoner at Camp Hill. District Attorney Detlef A. Hansen added he, too, had spoken with Camp Hill authorities, and gotten the same report.

Schaffer served at the school since April, 1950, has been in Monroe county jail since Oct. 15 this year to await trial here.

Attorney Ungerleider said the youth had learned the bricklaying trade at the school, and if released would have a job working alongside his father, also a bricklayer.

Judge Davis told Schaffer that after taking his youth and model behavior into consideration, he would suspend sentence and place him on probation until he reaches the age of 21.

Still ahead for Schaffer, however, is trial for other thefts—one case in Pike county, and one in New Jersey.
